Question #11 (Topic: Exam A) Topic 1

As part of a workflow redesign, a process analyst is applying the AI Fluency Framework Delegation competency. Which two criteria most directly inform Delegation decisions? (Choose two.)

A. The reversibility of the task and the consequence of an error, which together indicate whether the step is safe to delegate to Claude or should be retained for human decision-making.

B. The need for human creativity, empathy, or judgment in the step, which indicates whether the task is appropriate for AI delegation or requires the human capabilities Claude cannot provide.

C. The visual complexity of the workflow diagram, since steps with more connections and dependencies are more likely to require human oversight.

D. The seniority of the team member who currently performs the step, since more senior roles typically involve higher-stakes tasks that warrant human retention.

E. The length of time the workflow has existed in its current form, since well-established processes have been sufficiently validated for AI delegation.

Question #12 (Topic: Exam A) Topic 1

A Claude associate is evaluating whether to enable a Skill that was provided by an unfamiliar third party. Which two checks best support a sound trust decision? (Choose two.)

A. Verify the source of the Skill against the organization's approved-Skill list before enabling it within claude.ai or any Project the team uses for its work.

B. Treat the Skill's appearance in a public listing as sufficient validation, without confirming the source, the requested permissions, or alignment with the organization's approved-Skill list.

C. Skip permission review on the assumption that the Skill cannot exceed the boundaries of the workflow, even though Skills can request access that the task does not require.

D. Review the permissions and capabilities the Skill requests and confirm that the requested access is appropriate for the task the Skill is intended to perform.

E. Enable the Skill immediately on the basis of strong external reviews, even though the source has not been validated against the organization's approved-Skill list and the permissions remain unverified.

Question #13 (Topic: Exam A) Topic 1

You are a research associate preparing inputs for a long task that references two lengthy regulatory documents, but only specific sections apply. Which approach best preserves context-window capacity?

A. Skip the documents entirely and rely on Claude to invent the missing context.

B. Split each document into one-character pieces and feed them one at a time.

C. Extract only the relevant sections from each document and include those, omitting unrelated chapters.

D. Paste the full text of both documents without trimming to maximize available material.

Correct Answer: C

Question #14 (Topic: Exam A) Topic 1

You are a project lead reviewing a teammate's habit of using the same prompt template for every task regardless of type. Which feedback is most warranted?

A. The prompting strategy should be adapted to each task type because one template does not produce equally strong outputs across all tasks. Most Voted

B. The habit is ideal because a single template guarantees consistent quality across all task types.

C. The prompting strategy should not change between tasks because adapting it wastes time and adds no value.

D. Task type has no effect on the appropriate prompting strategy.

Question #19 (Topic: Exam A) Topic 1

You are reviewing colleagues' responses to feedback received on Claude-drafted communications. Which two feedback responses are productive? (Choose two.)
Each correct answer presents a complete solution.

A. declining to revise sections that were generated by Claude on the basis that the model's output should be trusted as written

B. incorporating all feedback received, including contradictory suggestions, into the next draft simultaneously

C. deferring all feedback to a later revision cycle to avoid disrupting the current draft's consistency

D. asking clarifying questions when feedback is ambiguous before acting on it

E. mapping each piece of feedback to the specific change made in the next draft

Correct Answer: DE

Question #20 (Topic: Exam A) Topic 1

A project manager is defining how Claude can support requirements analysis for an upcoming engagement. Their team will conduct stakeholder interviews and review existing process documentation as part of discovery.
Which activity fits this domain?

A. Use Claude to generate a complete requirements list from the project name and a short description, since requirements for similar engagements are largely standard.

B. Use Claude to prioritize the requirements the team has already gathered, leaving the gathering itself to manual analyst work since prioritization is more time-consuming.

C. Use Claude to synthesize stakeholder inputs and existing process documentation into a structured list of requirements with traceability to each source.

D. Use Claude to conduct the stakeholder interviews directly, with the analyst reviewing the recordings afterward to confirm the requirements Claude extracted.
